

Meet Coach Robby!

Not every volleyball story starts on the volleyball court — and Coach Robby is proof of that!

Robby found his love for volleyball later in life after getting involved with several youth volleyball camps, where he quickly discovered a passion for teaching the game and helping young athletes build confidence. Since then, he has become an instrumental part of our team, bringing a unique perspective and an approach that makes him especially valuable to beginner and developing athletes.

After picking up volleyball competitively, Robby recently completed his first season with Fleming College, where he helped lead his team to several victories and consistently stood out on the court, even as the oldest player on the roster! Known for his defensive abilities and his knack for finding a way to “side out,” Robby brings a competitive mindset and never-give-up attitude to every game.

But volleyball isn’t actually where Robby’s athletic story began.

A lifelong hockey player, Robby grew up playing competitive hockey five days a week, earning numerous honours recognizing not only his skill, but his leadership, work ethic, and drive to be the best. He captained several of his rep teams throughout his playing career and still has a huge love for the game today.

These days, though, there’s a new love competing for the top spot ... Volleyball!

Robby will be returning to Fleming College for his final season this September, while continuing to be a big part of the Outsiders team.

From the hockey rink to the volleyball court, Coach Robby brings his competitive spirit, leadership, defensive mindset, and passion for helping others to every practice. We’re excited to have him helping introduce the next generation to the game he’s come to love!
